

Money Made for the Modern World

Bitcoin is digital cash. You send it to anyone anywhere in the world without permission. No forms. No banks. No IDs. No physical address, email, or even a name. Accepted globally by more people every day.

It was created almost a decade ago. You couldn't buy anything with it then. Today, it is the most valuable currency on earth -- worth more than gold. It gives people in third-world countries a means of savings and access to the global market. It gives people in first-world countries access to investment opportunities that were formerly available exclusively to the super-rich.

Bitcoin Village

There are more crypto accepting retail shops in Portsmouth, NH than anywhere in the world. Small independent businesses love crypto because it goes directly from the customer to the merchant without banks.

It's not all about bitcoin, either. Many people love Dash and Bitcoin Cash because they are faster and cheaper to use.

The HONEY BADGER of money

This is Bitcoin. It's the most fearless currency on the Internet. Oh, Bitcoin is just crazy!

It's distributed all over the place. Watch out banks! Bitcoin does all the work. We don't need you anymore, Stupid!

Eew! Oh my gosh! Transactions are super fast. How disgusting is that? Bitcoin is so nasty.

Bitcoin has no regard for any national borders anywhere, allowing it to move about freely.

Here comes a fierce battle between the State and Bitcoin. FYI. It's got encryption! Nothing can stop Bitcoin.

Now the Feds want to tax Bitcoin. Do you think Bitcoin cares? Bitcoin don't give a Bit! It just does what it wants.

How It Works

You need a place to store some coins. A digital wallet. There are lots of them, and they are all free. Wallets empower you to hold bitcoin and other digital cash like you hold cash in your pocket. You possess the coins on your phone. Not a bank. You are the bank. That means you are responsible. Fortunately, backing up a million bitcoins is as easy as writing down some words on a piece of paper and storing it someplace safe. It takes only a minute to do. So let's get started.

Search your App Store for "Coinomi" and install it. The app walks you through a quick 3-step setup: writing down your backup phrase, confirming the phrase, then selecting coins to store in your wallet. You can now store billions of dollars worth of cryptocurrency and take it with you anywhere in the world without anyone else knowing about it.

You start with a zero balance. What fun is that? To start having fun, you want to put some coins in your wallets. So go get some. It is money, so you get cryptocurrency the same way you would any other money. You can work for it, trade for it, or find it laying about. Think of it like a foreign currency. If you went to Canada, you would trade your American dollars for Canadian dollars. In the case of Bitcoin, you can trade your American dollars for Bitcoins by trading with someone who has some, or by going to a currency exchange in person or online.

The coolest way to get cryptocurrency is to offer a product or service that people value and ask to be paid in Bitcoin. That way, you become a participant in a new economy that's independent of the old system -- a system based on politicians printing money to reward their friends in the war business. You don't need to depend on their system anymore. You have Bitcoin. A global unit of account with a fixed supply that anyone can access without permission. In short, it's money made for the modern world.

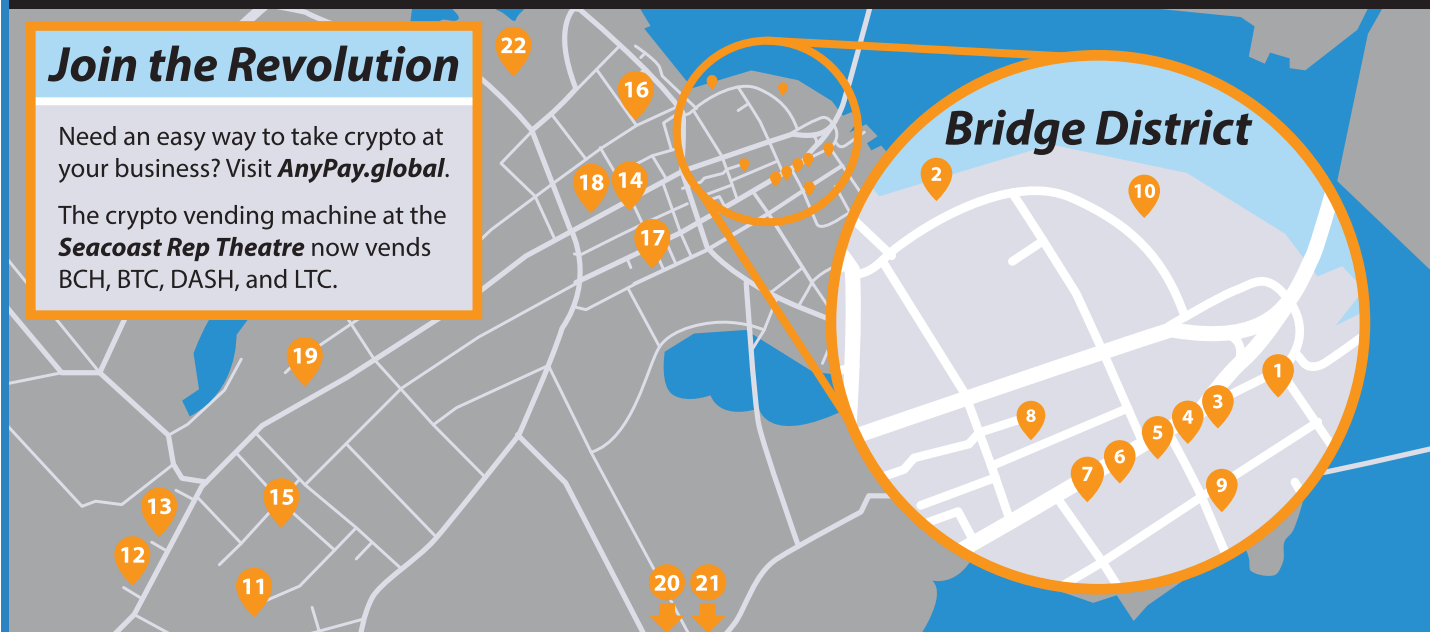

Every time you use Bitcoin instead of government money, you empower people to be their own banks -- and disempower politicians that rob your savings with inflation.
